The MONON ROUTE

(CHICAGO, INDIANAPOLIS & LOUISVILLE RY.)

Is Proud of Its Service Between Indianapolis and Chicago

The Monon Route takes pardonable pride in the fact that it carries more passengers between Indianapolis and Chicago than all the other lines combined.

The Monon Route offers service between Indianapolis and Chicago better than any other line.

The route is the shortest; the time is the fastest.

There are four daily trains each way and each one is as good as the best, and the best is the last word in equipment and comfort.

Luxurious observation - library cars, comfortable coaches and large, roomy dining cars on all day trains. All steel, electric-lighted sleeping cars on night trains.

The Monon Route is the only line arriving at and departing from Dearborn Station, Chicago, within a stone's throw of the loop.

When you travel between Indianapolis and Chicago, do as most people, go on the Monon—it costs no more than to travel on other lines—and you are protected by Automatic Electric Block Signals all the way.

INTRODUCTION

In this directory there are listed 116,776 names.

This is an increase of 3,625 names as compared with our directory of 1915, and, of course, represents a proportional increase in the city's population.

As has been shown by experience, a fair and conservative estimate of the population of the city is formed by multiplying the number of names in the directory by 2½. By following this method, it is shown that the estimated population of Indianapolis is 291,940, a gain of 9,063 as compared with the estimate of the preceding year.

And, in addition to its fixed population, Indianapolis has an exceptionally large transient population by reason of its central location, its transportation facilities and its many conventions.

The growth of Indianapolis, it should be borne in mind, has not been due to any campaign of expansion, but has been a steady and substantial growth due to its natural and acquired advantages.

In this introduction we wish to call attention to some of the more important features of this volume. One of these is a new feature relative to the street and avenue guide and directory of householders, pages 1325 to 1713.

The street and avenue guide and directory of householders, which we introduced in our directory of 1914, gives the names of the streets and avenues; the name of the car line nearest any place; the number of each building on each street and avenue, and, opposite the number, the name of the householder, and, in office buildings, the number of each room and the name of the occupant where practicable. In addition to this information, in this part of the 1916 directory the business or profession of occupants of store rooms and offices is stated as far as practicable.

Another new feature of the 1916 directory consists of the addition of a classified Buyers' Guide of the city, pages 65 to 236 inclusive, containing the advertisements and business cards of the most progressive business men and firms in our city, classified according to lines of business.

Among other valuable features of this volume are the following: A carefully collected and compiled list of citizens; industrial and commercial enterprises; federal, state, county and city officials; office buildings and apartment houses; churches; schools; the various literary, patriotic, fraternal, benevolent and other organizations, and a classified business directory.

In our offices, 320–324, 8 East Market street, we maintain for the use of our patrons a directory library, and we are pleased to have them avail themselves of this library or of any other service we can render at any time.

Our library has proved of considerable value to business and professional men in various ways, as it contains directories of 250 of the leading cities and towns in the United States.

INDIANAPOLIS

Distinctions Which Give the City Supremacy as a Modern Progressive American Community, Furnished and Compiled by the

Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce

Indianapolis is sixty miles from the center of population of the United States.

It is in the geographical center of manufacturing of the United States.

It is in population, transportation facilities and volume of business transacted the largest inland city, not on a navigable stream, in the United States.

It has a population of 291,940, with more than 2,000,000 people living within two hours' ride of the city.

It is the capital of Indiana and in the geographical center of the state, with railroad or electric railway connections with every county in the state.

It has an area of 37.97 square miles.

It is the seat of the following state institutions: Indiana State Fair, Indiana School for the Blind, Indiana School for the Deaf, School of Medicine of Indiana University, the Indiana Girls' School, the Indiana Woman's Prison, the Central Hospital for the Insane.

It has more than 1,200 factories, with 33,000 skilled mechanics employed.

It has twenty-six parks, nearly all public, with 3,000 acres.

It has seventeen steam railroads, connecting directly with all the great cities of the Central West, and also with Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

It has six electric interurban systems, made up of thirteen lines, which in 1915 carried 6,629,642 passengers to and from the city, an average of 18,163 a day, 689 passenger cars being handled each day in the largest and most pretentious interurban station in the United States. Freight cars to the number of 25,511 were also handled by this station.

It has three direct steam roads to the coal fields of Indiana.

It has two steam roads direct to the stone quarries of southern Indiana.

In the output of automobiles it is the second city of America.

It has the greatest motor speedway in the world. The largest paid admission to any sporting event in the history of the world was at the Speedway in 1913.

It has one of the best mile tracks for the training and racing of trotting and pacing horses in America.

The total deposits of our six national banks in 1915 amounted to more than $45,000,000. The total resources of these concerns are over $63,000,000.

The post office receipts last year amounted to $1,569,142.43.

The city has 200 wholesale and jobbing houses, representing all lines of trade, with a market extending well over the Central West.

Indianapolis importations last year amounted to $750,000.

It has 250 miles of permanently improved streets.

It has 170 miles of city electric car lines, operating over double tracks, with four-cent fare and universal transfers.

The total assessed valuation of Indianapolis property is $244,217,280.

The municipal bonded indebtedness is only $3,717,300.

The total tax rate for state, county, city, school and all other purposes is only $2.53 on each $100.

There were 5,417 births and 4,131 deaths in 1915.

Its building permits in 1915 amounted to over $7,000,000.

Its real estate transfers in 1915 amounted to $29,000,000.

It has 343.5 miles of sewers.

It has 406 miles of water mains, using 23,500,000 gallons every day. The water supply is abundant and pure. No other city surpasses Indianapolis in the excellence of its water for both domestic and commercial purposes.

It has artificial gas at 55 cents a thousand feet, the scale decreasing to 40 cents for the large consumers. Indianapolis' cheap fuel is world-famous.

It has an unrivaled street lighting system.

It has 59,360 telephones, with long distance connections with city, town, and farm throughout the State.

It has one of the most beautiful and best appointed post office buildings in the United States, erected at a cost of $2,000,000.

It has the largest and most inspiring Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument in the world.

It has twenty-five modern office buildings, six to sixteen stories high, and more under construction.

It has a Y. M. C. A. building which the public erected at a cost of $250,000; a Y. W. C. A. building, which the public provided at a cost of $140,000, and recently completed a colored Y. M. C. A. building at a cost of $100,000.

It has 70 public and 3 high school buildings, valued at $5,592,317.

In the John Herron Art Institute, the city has one of the noted art museums of the United States.

In Fort Benjamin Harrison it has one of the largest United States army posts in the country.

It has 63 hotels, which afford living on any scale desired for conventions of any size.

It has exceptional facilities for national conventions and entertains several hundred thousand visitors every year.

It has one of the largest city market houses of the Middle West, which supplies the city with the best products of the country.

It is a city made up largely of home owners, many thousand families occupying their own property.

It is abundantly supplied with apartment houses, large and pretentious.

It is pre-eminently an industrial city because of its geographical location in relation to the general market, because of its exceptional shipping facilities, abundance of labor, the excellence of its labor conditions and the nearness of the fuel supply. Coal from the Indiana field is delivered to power plants at about $1.25 a ton.

It has several very large industrial buildings for small manufacturing concerns, which supply space, power and other facilities at reasonable cost.

It has a public library with immeasurable resources, with numerous branches over the city. The reference library in the Indiana State House is one of the largest and best organized to be found in any American commonwealth.

It is bountifully supplied with schools of music, art, for commercial training, and in medicine and dentistry.

It has in the Normal School of the North American Gymnastic Union one of the great training schools for physical directors.

It is generously supplied with pretentious club houses, gymnasiums, theaters, roof gardens.

It supports a public orchestra, numerous musical organizations and societies which are active in the cultural development of the people.

All in all, Indianapolis is in the fore rank as a delightful American city in which to live, for the spirit of its citizenship is always striving for the general advancement of the community, of the people, and of all civic and commercial interests.

At the Indianapolis stockyards in 1915 more than $60,000,000 worth of live stock was handled.

Indianapolis is the largest producer of hominy in America, only one other city being able to approach its record for this product.

The city is the greatest center for the manufacture of quartered oak veneer in the country.

ADVERTISING SERVICE

John L. Clough
Advertising Agency

Display and classified advertising written, illustrated and placed in magazines, newspapers, farm papers and all other mediums at no advance on publishers' rates.

Act as advertising and merchandising counsel, suggesting the best methods of accomplishing a given purpose.

Booklets, folders, catalogues, form letters, mailing cards and other advertising literature written, illustrated, and printed if desired. Illustrations and all forms of art work prepared in our own art department.

We solicit particularly the accounts of manufacturers who want real advertising service in the development of local or national markets for their products.

What Better Medium
To Set You Right?

Does Your Advertising Pay?

Are you securing adequate returns for the money you are spending for publicity? Is your advertising done in a systematic manner or a haphazard fashion?

The Mervin J. Hammel Advertising Service is a merchandising and advertising organization for manufacturers and merchants who wish to increase their business through intensive advertising and sales promotion. Our clients are among the largest and most representative concerns in Indianapolis and Indiana.

A conference with us will in no way obligate you. If conditions surrounding your business are not right, we will be frank enough to tell you that you are not ready for the services of this organization.

Progressive - Practical - Reliable

THIS institution has always taken advance steps in the teaching of commercial subjects. Its courses are improved and modernized from time to time to keep pace with the rapid development of business and business methods. Needless to say, this fact is recognized by business men all over the state, by their preference for INDIANA BUSINESS COLLEGE GRADUATES. Students from this school Know How when they take up work in an office.

By our individual method of instruction, coupled with enthusiastic class drills, every student's needs are met. From the day one enters this school, he is taught with a view to becoming a practical bookkeeper and stenographer. When he is qualified to accept a position, our EMPLOYMENT DEPARTMENT is at his service, and without any cost whatever. This Department is in direct touch with business men and aims to fill positions scientifically.

This is one of the INDIANA BUSINESS COLLEGES, of which Chas. C. Cring is general manager. These schools are located in the following Indiana cities: Marion, Muncie, Anderson, Lafayette, Richmond, Columbus, Logansport, Washington, Vincennes, Newcastle, Kokomo, Crawfordsville and Indianapolis.

A good way to determine just what you would like to study and the time to begin, would be to talk it over with us. Of course, we will be pleased to send you the information you want, but if you can come to the school that would be still better.

The World's Record for Efficiency Held by the

INDIANAPOLIS LIGHT AND HEAT COMPANY

This Company has for twenty-eight years furnished electric current to the Indianapolis News for the lighting of its mechanical departments and the operation of its presses and linotype machines.

During the entire period there has not been a day, an hour, or a minute, but what the current was available and in use.

It is a world's record that has never been beaten.

The same excellent service which we are rendering to the Indianapolis News, 7,000 business establishments and 30,000 residences, may be had at a rate no higher than you would have to pay for inferior service.

The Sign over your door

IT is a good thing, isn't it? You would not think of doing business without it.

But it is only seen by those who pass your way.

The City Directory is where many people look when they want to find you. You should make it easy for them to find you by putting in the directory such information as a buyer wants to know. Index your business under all classifications where a customer might look for you.

To be properly registered costs less than to be left out.

Send for the City Directory Advertising Man and let him explain this to you in detail.

OSTEOPATHY

The Efficient Human Machine

THE human body is a highly complex, vitalized machine. It is perfect in design, infinite in construction, superb in efficiency. Its automatic steering gear and dust-proof bearings are beyond imitation. All other machines are but modifications of its principles and processes.

It is not only the highest type of mechanism, but it is subject to psychic and vital influences. It is self-operating, self-cleansing, self-oiling. It regulates its gear to meet stresses, strains and accidents. It recharges its batteries in self-defense against changes of weather, over-indulgences, infection and poison which obstruct requisite flow of subtle vital forces to propel the wheels of life.

Cared-for machines outlast neglected ones. Carelessness aided by ignorance in running your body machine means disaster. Most people run watches; many run automobiles; everybody runs a human machine. It was given you to run as efficiently as you can and as long as you can. It is your most valuable property. To run it smoothly and without pain, its minutest parts must be kept adjusted and regulated; supply it with proper fuel, air, water; never abuse it, or debauch it with poisons; cherish it and keep it undefiled.

Wheels won't run without energy and energy won't generate if the boiler is scaly, furnace clinkered or pipes clogged. A slipped cog, a sprung shaft, a bent piston—the machine is dead. As with auto and watch, so with the human machine. Its boilers of existence won't generate enough vital power to turn the wheels if its parts are out of gear. Slipped vertebræ, sprung ribs, contracted muscles, deranged glands, impinged nerves shut off vital impulses—man is dis-abled, dis-eased.

What shall the remedy be? Can you prudently weigh the merits of applied mechanics to repair the human machine and then deny yourself the services of an efficient osteopath, trained to adjust and regulate the human mechanism that it may be enabled to generate vital powers adequate to maintain health, or would you pour vile stuff into your watch, auto or body machine to adjust their parts and release vital energy required to make the wheels go round? Which appeals to your reason?

The art of adjusting the intricate parts of the human mechanism for the cure of its ills should be entrusted only to a qualified osteopath. To subject the temple of your soul to the crude, bungling work of uneducated, unlicensed imitators is a tragedy, an insult to God's shrine.

The competent osteopath takes the human machine and reads each defect—each weakness clear—and strikes his finger on the place, and says, "Thou ailest here—and here."

The rational scientific methods that characterize the appeal to the cultured and thoughtful who so revere their bodies that they submit them only to the care and regulation of a licensed osteopathic physician, which spares them exposure, danger and pain; saves them dollars and assures them added health and efficiency. Our privilege and joy is to share these blessings with you. Literature for the asking that makes plain how to achieve these results.

The Sign over your door

IT is a good thing, isn't it? You would not think of doing business without it.

But it is only seen by those who pass your way.

The City Directory is where many people look when they want to find you. You should make it easy for them to find you by putting in the directory such information as a buyer wants to know. Index your business under all classifications where a customer might look for you.

To be properly registered costs less than to be left out.

Send for the City Directory Advertising Man and let him explain this to you in detail.

Advertising is that which is presented at the time one is ready to buy. The classifications in the City Directory are the very best forms of advertising, because they reach the buyer when he is seeking the name and address of some business house from whom he may buy.
